Resilience Workshop, November 3rd*

Being able to get through life, to come back after unexpected setbacks, is essential for us all. And given the hustle & bustle of our lives, I thought it would be good for the Teen Nite crew to attend the Resilience workshop, which is being hosted the Stephen Ministry, on Sunday, November 3rd, from 3:30pm – 5:30pm. Please RSVP that your teen will be in attendance. Parents are welcome too!

RECAP: The Labor of Love

At our last gathering, over our soft pretzel bar creations, we talked about loving people we have a hard time even liking, sometimes. Whether a friend or family member, an outright nemesis, or a stranger, love is what is required of us. I have two brothers and a sister, and through the years our sibling bonds have been tested. We talked about why people rub us the wrong way and why they behave the way they do. Are they scared or lonely, or hiding from something? We talked about how we, ourselves might not necessarily be sunshine and rainbows all the time, either. It's all about perspective. And prayer. I challenged the group to pray for that person in their lives, which Fr. Tim talked about in his homily on how to pray. Peace.
